The screenshot shows the Autodesk Knowledge Network website. The main article is titled "Previous version support change" and is dated June 21, 2019. The article text states: "Starting August 31, 2019, Autodesk will start enforcing its technical support lifecycle policy for all current versions of Autodesk software and previous versions (typically three versions back), listed on the subscription and maintenance plan eligibility lists." Below the text are two bullet points: "What does this mean for my right to use Autodesk software?" and "Why did Autodesk choose to make this change in their product activation process now?". On the right side of the page, there is a "Find related content" section with links to "Articles, videos & help", "About Saving Drawings to Previous Drawing File Formats", "To Save a Drawing to a Previous Release Format", and "About Batch Conversion Between Drawing File Formats".
